

PROACTIS Announces Partnership with Intelligent Capture

London, UK – 10 August 2010. PROACTIS, the spend control and eProcurement specialist, today announced an agreement with Intelligent Capture that allows PROACTIS to offer advanced document and data capture solutions for reducing cost and increasing productivity in Accounts Payable.

This agreement extends the PROACTIS invoice receipt and data capture capabilities to enable every level of invoice automation from manual capture of paper invoices, through document scanning to electronic transmission/receipt. Intelligent Capture's document and data capture solutions allow users to scan documents and have information "intelligently" extracted and posted into the procurement system, without human intervention.

"Intelligent Capture has developed considerable experience in solutions that reduce costs and drive process excellence," said Joe Taylor, Head of Sales at PROACTIS. "Intelligent Capture solutions enable us to now completely remove paper from the Accounts Payable department, reducing errors, inefficiencies and workload. The result is that invoices appear as workflow-ready electronic documents within the purchase-to-pay software without keying," continued Joe.

The solution is already being deployed at a number of PROACTIS customer sites including one of the largest UK publishers.

Gerrard Kennedy, Managing Director of Intelligent Capture adds: "I am delighted with the PROACTIS partnership, both organisations have many synergies and the solutions are very complementary by the fact that they help unify the purchase-to-pay process. Both organisations are firmly of the opinion and have experience that automating only the procurement or payables side of the process delivers limited results, however this combined "best-in-class" solution will allow organisations to achieve optimum benefits from two market-leading solution providers".
